

This B-17G crash site is located near the top of the peak of the Fortuna mountain range west of Phoenix, Arizona. This B-17 hit the mountain near the top on a training mission in 1944. Had they been another 100 feet or so higher in altitude they would have missed the peak. My son Thomas and I hiked up the steep terrain of the mountain to get to this crash site.

There is a YouTube video of our adventure on our channel "Scale modeling with Mike Ashey"

D
K957
11215
355
AC
11

205280-1

AZIMUTH HAND CLUTCH
IN ——— OUT

